MANILA YIELDS TO AMERICANS.

Augusti Flees and Leaves a Subordinate to Give Up the City.
The Surrender Took Place Last Saturday—The Philippine Question Believed to Be Greatly Simplified.

Scripps-McKee Service.
Madrid, Aug. 16.—An official announcement that the city of Manila has surrendered was made today. The city was surrendered Saturday, August 13th, by Gen. Jander, who succeeded Captain-General Augusti.
The American troops occupied the city immediately after the surrender.

THE FALL OF MANILA GIVES SATISFACTION.

Scripps-McKee Service.
Washington, Aug. 16.—The news of the capture of Manila has been received here with intense interest. The surrender and occupation of the city simplifies the work of the peace commission greatly, for it places the United States in a position to demand the cession of enough territory about the city to enable it to hold and to fortify it.
The capture of the city also does another thing. It will undoubtedly make the policy of the United States absolutely clear as to Manila. That city and surrounding territory will be held. The question now will be, will the whole or only a part of Luzon be held.

A DISPATCH FROM WILDMAN GIVES THE NEWS.

Washington, Aug. 16.—The department of state issued the following last night: The following dispatch was received at 11:15 p. m., August 15, from Consul Wildman at Hong Kong: "General Augusti, who arrived here today, says that Admiral Dewey bombarded Manila Saturday, and the city surrendered unconditionally. Augusti was taken by the Germans in a lunch to the Kaiserin Augusta and brought to Hong Kong. I credit the report."

CRITICISING SHAFTER.

H. J. Whigham Says That the General Tried to Fight Too
Many Battles at Once.

Scripps-McKee Service.
Chicago, Aug. 16.—H. J. Whig-ham in a lengthy review of the battles of El Caney and San Juan published in today's Tribune, severely criticizes General Shafter for fighting two battles one day when he had plenty of time to fight the battles separately. Whigham declares the honor of the victory was due to Gen.
Sumner and other commanders who willfully disobeyed General Shafter's impossible orders.

TALES OF SUFFERING.

The Manila Transports Were the Scene of Much Sickness
While En Route.

Scripps-McKee Service.
Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 16.—The Hondolup papers of July 26 to 30th, say that there was great suffering on the troopships conveying volunteers to Manila on account of overcrowding and insufficient food. This was particularly the case on the Peru and Pueblo on which a number of men collapsed when they arrived at Honolulu and had to be taken to the city hospitals. It is stated that troops on the Peru with typhoid fever walked to the street cars, but were delirious when they reached the hospital. It seems that the Red Cross services had been declined.

MORE HONORS FOR "OUR BOYS."

Officers and Men of Company K, Alike Are Winning Laurels.

Camp Grant, Newport News, Va.,
Aug. 16. (Special).—Company K, already the best company in the Third Kentucky, has won new honors.

Gen. Fred Grant on a recent visit to Col. Smith's headquarters called for all the captains in the Third and then there publicly complimented Capt. Brinton B. Davis, saying that Davis was the only captain in the regiment who looked after the comfort of his men. He also complimented the men, declaring that for raw recruits the Paducah boys had made wonderful progress. This is due largely to Capt. Davis and to Lieut. Alf Stewart. There is no doubt that if the Third had been equipped sooner it would now be at the front with the Sixteenth Pennsylvania and the Second Wisconsin.

Sundry members of company K have been specially honored. Besides Privates Zack Bryant and Joe Sinnott, who are orderlies on General Wilson's staff, Private Knox has been appointed as Y. M. C. A. secretary, Private Wm. Shearer as regimental mail carrier, Private Fred McKnight as hospital steward and Private Jake Davis as regimental color bearer.

Several of these appointments will be news to Paducah people.

OLD LANDMARK MOVING.

The old Jarrett residence, one of the oldest residences in Paducah, is being moved from the lot where it has stood in Mechanicburg for half a century, to a location just across the street. Apparently the ancient building is not being damaged in the moving. A dwelling will be erected on its old site.

With Much Interest.

Scripps-McKee Service.

Kolshoky, pastor of the All Saints
Polish Catholic church has filed suit
in the circuit court asking damages
for $50,000 against Arch-Bishop Feehan of this diocese, and Cardinal Ledochowski, head of the congregation of the propaganda at Rome, because they excommunicated him.
This is the first action of this kind in this country.

RUSSIA IS FRIENDLY.

Count Cassini Congratulates the State Department on the Signing of the Protocol.

Scripps-McKee Service.
Washington, Aug. 16.—The state department bulletin says that a congratulatory note was received from Count Cassini, the Russian ambasador, Saturday night on the signing of the protocol.

THE TROUBLE IS PASSED.

Scripps-McKee Service.
Rome, Aug. 16.—The government of Colombia has accepted Cleveland's award in the Cerutti case and has deposited twenty thousand pounds as security for the payment of the claim.
The Italian war ships have been ordered home.

NEATNESS AND DISPATCH.

Police Judge Sanders Dishes Out
Justice While You Wait.

Judge Sanders' police court this morning was like an old clothes
store in that it was full of breaches.

A dozen or more individuals and firms, some prominent and some not quite so prominent, were warranted for a breach of ordinance. The specific charges being that they failed to pay licenses. Most of the cases were dismissed.

NARROW ESCAPE.

One Man Killed and Several Injured in an Explosion.

Scripps-McKee Service.
Birmingham, Aug. 16.—At Newcastle mines this morning an explosion killed John Jefferson and fatally injured John Henderson. A score of men narrowly escaped death.

AUGUSTI HAD BEEN FIRED.

Scripps-McKee Service.
London, Aug. 16.—A dispatch
from Hong Kong reports that Augusti
had been dismissed from his position as governor-general August 5, and that he was succeeded by Gen. Janderes.

BLANCO'S RESIGNATION.

Madrid, Aug. 16.—The government has received from Capt. Gen.
Blanco a dispatch tendering his resignation. The reason given by Gen.
Blanco for resigning is that he does not wish to superintend the evacuation of Cuba.

TRICK RIDER HERE.

H. G. might stand for high gear, but it doesn't. However, it does very appropriately stand for Harry Geer, a young cyclist of some reputation who arrived here today. Geer is well-known as a trick wheelman
and century rider.

GOT OFF LIGHTLY.

Fred Bement, the Louisville
youth, who split the scalp of a man named Ferrell on Broadway near Sixth Sunday afternoon, was fined $10 and costs in police court today.
The fight created considerable excitement as Ferrell was at first believed to be badly hurt.

ACTIVITY AT FACTORIES.

Local manufacturers of wagon
stock report the heaviest business, this season of the year, ever enjoyed in Paducah. The Lack single-tree factory and the Little spoke works have hundreds of orders ahead.

Scripps-McKee Service.
The Cuban and Porto Rican Commissioners Have Been Appointed by the President—The Selections Good Ones.

Scripps-McKee Service.
Washington, Aug. 16.—The president announced the two military commissions, which are as follows:
Cuba—Gen. Wade, Admiral Sampson, Gen. Butler, Porto Rico—Gen. Brooke, Admiral Schley, and
Gen. Gordon.
Gen. Lee was slated for a commissionership, but he prefers to go to Cuba at the head of his army corps,
which he will soon do.

STRANGE TRAGEDY.

ice of His Wife's Illness.

Intelligence of the Death of His Wife.

Scripps-McKee Service.
New York, Aug. 16.—The Marlborough hotel in this city was the scene of a terrible tragedy and a remarkable coincidence yesterday.

Major Reed, of Savannah, who was stopping at the hotel, received the following telegram yesterday from one of his children: "Ma critically ill. Come at once. (Signed,) M.
Reed." The major went up stairs to his room to prepare to go home
and fell dead from an apoplectic stroke. A few minutes later this telegram came: "Ma died 3:30 o'clock. (Signed,) M. Reed."

ANYTHING FOR COKE.

How the Fiends Have to Get Their Doses of the Drug Nowadays.

Since the passage of the city ordinance prohibiting the sale of cocaine
without a physician's prescription, the devotees have been driven to all sorts of stratagems to secure supplies
of their favorite drug.

Said a well-known drug clerk this morning: "One negro man, I understand, makes frequent trips to Cairo, where the stuff is sold indiscriminately, and buys a considerable quantity of it, which he brings back and peddles out in small packages to the fiends at an enormous profit."

"There is a brand of alleged ca-tarth cure, which is taken by being "sniffed" into the nostrils, and which is really nothing else but cocaine in disguise. Those who use the drug have found this out, and a great deal of it is sold here. Whites, in fact, seem to want it in preference to the unadulterated article."

"The darkies have a new game,
I'm told. They stand in a circle, and alternately draw the stuff up their noses from the palm of the hand of one of the crowd until it is all gone. Then the friend next to him or her who got the last installment must go buy a fresh supply."

"By the way, the negroes have new names for cocaine. It's known no longer as 'coke' or 'crokane,' but as 'whiffings' or as the stuff that makes you 'ch.'"

NO BIG SHOW FOR US.

Ringling Bros.' Circus to Skip Paducah on Its Kentucky Trip.

Dick Hunter, advance agent of Ringling Bros.' circus, the biggest show now on the American continent,
passed through Paducah this morning.

Ringling Brothers will appear at Mayfield, September 8; Princeton,
September 9, and at Hopkinsville, September 10. The show will pass through here, but it won't stop, because the Ringlings swore two years ago, when they were imposed on by local parties, never to visit this city again. In consequence Paducah will have no big show this year, and the home merchants will miss a big day's trade.

NOTICE TO PARENTS.

Parents whose children are selling newspapers published away from here
are requested to admonish their children to observe the rules and regulations governing United States property, and to be courteous to those whose business it is to see that said rules are observed. Some of the boys have already been very persistent in disregarding said rules, trespassing on government property, and using insulting language to some of the government officials whose duty it is to look after and take care of the government property, and to see that the rules governing same are enforced. Such conduct can not be tolerated by the government.

BACKED JIM WITH HIS ALL.

Jim Corbett's Father Kills His Wife, and Then Turns the San Francisco.

Scripps-McKee Service.
San Francisco, Aug. 16.—This city was startled this morning by the report that Patrick Corbett, the father of the pugilist, had shot and killed his wife and himself at 5 o'clock this morning. He had lost all on Jim's last fight, which, it is supposed, had unbalanced his mind.

A TRAGEDY REPEATED.

Cal T. Watson's Fate at Memphis Was Much Like That of Will Coughlin's Ending.

Scripps-McKee Service.
Both Were Former Paducahans,
and Both Were Slain Down South While Protecting
Young Women.

It now appears that Cal T. Watson, formerly of this city, news of whose tragic death reached here yesterday, met an end similar in several respects to that of Will Coughlin, another young ex-Paducahan, who was killed last Thursday.

Watson was stabbed to death at Memphis Sunday night by Ollie Courson, a dissolute white boy.
Courson had insulted a lady acquaintance of Watson's. This led to a quarrel and incidentally to a murder. The victim was reared near Florence station in this county, but lived here most of his life. Four years ago he went to Memphis to work in a furniture factory. He was 36 years old. He left a family. His slayer escaped.

Coughlin was killed at Birmingham, Ala., in a fight over a young woman, having taken up her cause when another man spoke dis-paragingly of her. He was also reared in this city.

DISASTER TO "DEWEY."

During the mimic battle on the lake at La Belle park last night the flagship of the American fleet, the Olympic, the biggest, prettiest and most elaborately decorated boat on the water, went down in several feet
of water, contrary to the program.
The craft was not damaged, being arranged so it can be sunken or raised. The occupants, however,
got a good wetting, and one of them
reported a close call for himself.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1898.

The rumor that Japan is preparing to protest against the annexation of Hawaii comes at this late hour in the nature of a joke.

The people of Memphis are willing to trust their sewerage system to Engineer James H. Elliott and have paid him the highest compliment that was in their power.

Bicyclists who have any regard for their lives will avoid any street in Paducah that has been dug up for the sewerage system. These streets all come under the nature of "unfinished business."

The Third Kentucky has been ordered back to Lexington, and probably will soon be in the embrace of its friends. But we are just as proud of the Third Kentucky as if it had charged the heights at Santiago or were now with Gen. Miles on his Porto Rican picnic.

An exchange says that the Hobson-Arnold kiss will be immortal; but if so, it will be because it is such a good illustration of the intense desire for notoriety that possesses many people. The people of the country honor Lieut. Hobson, but they are getting extremely tired of the sickly sentimentality that underlies the Hobson-Arnold kiss.

Mr. Wheeler says he will ignore state issues in this race, and that statement may be true. But the people are not going to do so. The infamous Goebel Election Law is and will be just as much an issue in this congressional district this fall as it will be in the state of Kentucky next year. Whether he so desires or not Mr. Wheeler will be considered an exponent of that unscrupulous gang of democratic politicians who have stolen the Goebel law on Kentucky for no other reason than to perpetuate their control of political affairs in the state. Mr. Wheeler is a Goebelite and such the people of the First congressional district will consider him to be.

AN UNPARDONABLE MISTAKE.
Whoever may be to blame for the bad management that destroyed the effectiveness of the medical corps and the quartermaster's department at Santiago, or was responsible for sending sick soldiers home in such conditions as they came on the Seneca and Concho, or for the establishment of a hospital camp at such a place as Montauk Point, L. I., whoever may be responsible in fact for these most deplorable occurrences, it is going to be extremely hard for Secretary of War Alger to convince the people of this nation that there is not something radically wrong in the war department.

The task before the war department at the beginning of hostilities was a vast one and one that would have taxed to the utmost a man of greater organizing abilities than possessed by General Alger. That delays should have occurred and mistakes should have been made in moving the troops, or in selecting the military camps was but natural; indeed the mobilization of the volunteer and regular army was a splendid piece of work. It is also easily explained how, in the excitement and rush of the disembarkation at Balquid, the commissary departments and medical stores got lost and were so far in the rear when the boys were in the front fighting those two days' battles that will ever be famous in the annals of American history. It can also be understood, though by no means so easily, how sick soldiers could be shipped on partly provisioned transports like so many cattle, to be sent to northern hospitals. But how, after all the experiences of the war and with thousands of delightful and healthful camping grounds available, such an out-of-the-way location as Montauk Point, L. I., could be selected as a site for a healthful camp is beyond the comprehension of the ordinary mortal. Five miles from a railroad, reached only by impassable mud roads on the land side, with no water and with nothing but fresh air as its recommendation, Montauk Point was chosen as a place to send the fever stricken soldiers from Santiago, Secretary Alger may clear himself of the blame for other occurrences that have caused untold suffering among our brave soldiers, but it is probable that he can never escape from the odium that will be attached to the war department for dumping sick soldiers at Montauk Point, without water, without ordinary hospital comforts, without dry floors in their tents, and in many cases without tents at all.

SOCIETY NOTES.

WOMAN'S WEAPON.
"What is a woman's weapon?" I asked a charming girl; She dropped her lashes shyly And stroked a vagrant curl; Then consciously she murmured— This rosebud newly out— "I have a strong suspicion Her weapon is a pout."

"What is a woman's weapon?" I asked a lover true. He turned him to a maiden With eyes of heavenly blue. Her velvet lips were parted, All innocent of guile, And eagerly he answered: "Her weapon is a smile."

"What is a woman's weapon?" I asked a poet then, With sudden inspiration He seized upon his pen, "Oh, I could name a thousand," He cried in accents clear; "But woman's surest weapon, I grant you is a tear."

Socially, the city bids fair to have another "mild and lamb-like" week. While many of the society devotees are absent from home, enjoying the coast and mountain resorts, a goodly portion are summering at home, and find it no great hardship. They have their rides, dances and picnics, swimming parties, and an occasional trip, perhaps, to some near watering place or the country for a week or ten days, as circumstances may invite, and find it far easier to make their own attractive city their summer resort, than to spend the summer away, amid discomforts that are poorly compensated for by the promised tonic in the air and water and stirring scenery of other climes.

Some of us discontented mortals have grown to be wandering Arabs, and real homelife, steadfast and abiding, we know nothing of. In winter we run from the regions of snow and ice to the land where birds sing and flowers bloom in the open air all the year 'round; and in summer, a flight to the seashore, or the mountains for relief from the hot spell. Fashion decrees it, and what would not some do to be fashionable? The Episcopal Guild met last evening with Mrs. B. E. Reed, at the rectory.

MIDSUMMER FASHIONS—THE SAILOR HAT A THING OF THE PAST.

It has been prophesied that the sailor hat and shirt waist have come to stay. The Parisians are already weary of the shirt waist and have replaced it this season by exquisite gowns of linen for morning wear whose bodices admit of far more variety than any shirt waist ever made. The straight stiff brim of the sailor hat has also found a rival in a new shape whose becomingness is far more general. It has a wide brim, slightly depressed in front and a crown rather low and slightly conical, adorned only by a band of black velvet and a handsome antique buckle. This is another step in the direction of the fashions of our grandmothers. There are those of us who can remember the "flat" of forty years ago, whose front was held down by a velvet or corded silk ribbon in the hands of its wearer.

CHERRIES A GREAT FAVORITE.

Cherries are in high favor with the Parisians just now, not only are they worn in hats, but as corsage and coiffure ornaments in the evening. There has always been a vogue about using these pretty little red balls through the summer, and the pronounced leaning towards reds of all shades at present has given them a decided impetus. Summer gowns are also embroidered with them and even fluffy mousseline de soie rubings are edged with embroidered cherries and green leaves.

THE DANGERS OF AGELESSNESS.

"Which way shall we drive," he asked after he had made a dash to the front of the house, taken her into the buggy and made a band wagon turn in leaving—

"I have no choice. Anywhere you like. It is enough for me to ride."

"But you surely have some preference."

"None whatever. The island, Grosse Point, Boulevard, Long Cabin pond, down the Canadian shore, anywhere. You can't go amiss."

"I don't care to decide, and it will add to my pleasure to drive you to where you would find the most pleasure."

"Really, now, I have none. I mean it. Please yourself."

"Hush! I like to see a young woman with some mind of her own. If you have any choice, say so."

"I have said, and I have mind enough of my own not to change. I'll be best satisfied to go where you like, and it seems to me we are wasting a good deal of time."

"Oh, no! The horse is jogging right along. We're riding, and I am always happy when I am riding."

"Will you tell me where we shall go?"

"I couldn't think of deciding it."

Then the whole discussion was gone into again, with the result that they drove around the same block for two hours, and then awakened to the fact that it was time to go home.—Detroit Free Press.

SOAPY SMITH'S PARTNER.

A Young Tennessean, Now in Klondike, Has Two Brothers in Paducah.

Two Paducahans have a brother in the Klondike country. Moreover this brother was a law partner of "Soapy" Smith, one of the most noted men of the West who died in Dawson City a month ago with his boots on and his gun smoking.

The two Paducahans are the Messrs. Weldon, one a member of the firm of the Weldon Tobacco Warehouse company, and the other an assistant in Dr. Dabney's dental office in the Campbell block.

The far-away brother went from Tennessee to Alaska with the first rush of the gold seekers. He was a young lawyer and established an office in Dawson City, where he formed a partnership with "Soapy" Smith, late of Denver, Col.

"Soapy" Smith was a veritable Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. In his social room or with his clients he was a bright, wide-awake lawyer, honorable and zealous of the interests entrusted to him. In the gambling house he was an unscrupulous player, ready with revolver or knife to settle his disputes or make good his words.

When he was shot down last month by Deputy Sheriff Reid, after wounding the officer and defying the whole town of Dawson, his young partner, Weldon, was the first man to reach the expiring "Soapy's" side and hear his last words.

SELF-MADE HEROES.

One of the Bogus War Veterans Who Beat Paducah People Lately.

The crippled soldier fake has struck Paducah. The wounded sailor or fraud has not yet arrived but he may be expected to turn up shortly.

Northern papers have been full lately of exposures of impostors, who, decking themselves out in any garb that remotely suggested the military or naval costumes, have been soliciting alms, pretending to have received injuries or suffering from sickness in the campaign against Spain. As a result old clothes men and second hand dealers have done a big business in castoff uniforms of every description, and which many patriotic and generous people have contributed to these self-made veterans.

It is believed that the alleged soldier who arrived here accompanied by a woman in the early half of last week, and who succeeded in collecting a large number of dollars, including a dollar contributed by Mayor Lang, was one of these bogus heroes. In the first place his blue coat bore more resemblance to a fireman's or policeman's uniform than to one of Uncle Sam's garments. Instead of the regulation trousers a pair of blue jeans' pants were covered by his lower limbs. He wore a hat that was no more like the regular private's slouch than a cat is like a king.

Yes, the sailor-man fraud may be expected next.

TO OPEN UP A MUSIC HALL.

Cosy Theatre Will Provide Fun For Park Patrons This Winter.

When the summer theater closes for the season the regular visitor to LaBelle park will feel lost. But they won't feel lost long.

There is a move on foot to open a music hall to run all winter. In fact preparations are now being made to transform a building in a downtown portion of the city into a cozy little theater. Well known citizens are behind the scheme, and "Billy" St. Clair, a well known comedian, who was here lately, will probably manage the place. He has had considerable experience and much success in that sort of line.

Excellent vaudeville performances will be given nightly, and nothing that borders on the "naughty" will be permitted.

BULLY FOR "K!"

No Sickness in the Paducah Company, Writ's Lieutenant Alf Stewart.

Our Boys Are Best Drilled in the Third, and Have a Good Time to Boot.

A letter from First Lieutenant Alf Stewart, company K, Third regiment at Newport News, to Mr. R. J. Dawson, of this city, brings good news.

The letter was written last Friday, Aug. 12, and at that time according to the lieutenant all the men in the company were either well, or getting well. There was no serious illness in the ranks.

Stewart says he hopes company K will yet be sent to Cuba, to do garrison duty, now that going to Porto Rico is out of the question. The boys are making trips to the government ship yards at Newport News, to Norfolk and the Roe Buck beach at frequent intervals.

Lieutenant Stewart winds up his letter by stating that K is acknowledged to be the best drilled company in the Third.

TROWEL AND SAW.

Work on the new building, now being erected by Max B. Nahm, of Bowling Green, on Broadway, near Fourth, is being pushed rapidly. The walls are completed to third floor.

One of the handsomest houses on the North Side will be the big store of brick and stone which Grocer F. Lally is putting up at Tenth and Trimble. It will soon be ready for occupancy.

This old Martin warehouse at Tenth and Madison will be converted into a tobacco stemmery next spring.

A good force of workmen are engaged in removing the debris from the interior of the White building, on Broadway, which was gutted by fire last month while being occupied by the Kentucky Glass and Queensware company. The structure will be replaced as before.

Dr. Murrell's new business house, on Broadway near Sixth, while small, will be quite pretty. The masons have bricks laid on the side walls almost to the level of the second floor.

A capsule manufactory and a storage warehouse for raw cotton are among the new industries talked of for Paducah.

Mrs. Ida Wilson, widow of the late Alex. Wilson, has let the contract for George Ingram for the erection of a pretty cottage in Mechanicsburg.

CHARMS OF THE CARIBBEAN.

Beauties of Santiago de Cuba Described by One Who Has Been There.

Santiago used to resemble nothing so much as a cockatoo. It was just as colorful, just as talkative, just as inane. It enjoyed the supreme distinction of being the one civilized town of its size in which not a bookshop could be found. That was in ante-bellum days. The color must be there still, the loquaciousness cannot have departed, or the inanity, either. It is permissible, however, to suppose that the cockatoo of recent years may have latterly assumed some of the attributes of the buzzard. But the heavens, at least, are unchanged. Those who have there seen night unloose her leath of stars have seen lilacs aflame in parterres of indigo. The expression is unfortunately poetic, but it has the merit of being exact. However it may be in the South Pacific, in this part of the world there is no display equal to that which the Caribbean sea affords.

Santiago has other charms. When our troops want a change from potting Spaniards, there is the blue-headed partridge. Unless it has gone, it will be very nice. There used to be fat turtles there, for which, unless they have gone also, the soldiers may fish, and which are very nice, too. In addition, there is the fruit. It is sweet as the eyes of the well beloved. Sometimes sweeter. Then there is the volante, which Havana in her smartness gave up long ago, and which rattles yet, and very comfortably, along the startled streets. Moreover, there are the houses. They are quite cool. Some of them are so covered with vines that, seen from the harbor, they look like mounds of pistache. In the gardens is the brilliance of convolvuli and granadillas. On the red roads beyond the yellow walls is the celiba tree, but there perhaps to shield the passer from the suffocation of purple skies.

Like the partridges and the turtles, the girls are—or were—very nice. They have, indeed, a habit of plastering their faces with powdered eggshells, which gets off on one's coat, but c'est la guerre comme a la guerre, and, besides, every silver lining has its cloud.—Edgar Saltus, in Collier's Weekly.

DANCED TO PAY THE DEBTS.

A King's Scheme for Settling His Precocious Son's Bills.

In 1719 Louis XIV. favored the opera, then established in the first salle of the Palais Royal (there have been two) with a special mansion for the better accommodation of its administration, archives, and rehearsals.

This hotel is situated in the Rue Nicaise. The building was generally designated under the name of "Magasin," whence the term "Filles du Magasin" (not "de magasin") subsequently, not only to the female chorists and supers, but the female dancers themselves. It so happened that the king forgot to pay his architects and workmen. In order to satisfy them, Chevalier de Bouillon conceived the idea of giving balls in the opera house, for which idea he received an annual pension of 6,000 francs. He was paid, but the king's debtors were not, for although the letters patent were granted somewhere about the beginning of 1713, not a single ball had been given when the most magnificent of the Bourbon sovereigns descended to his grave.

One day, shortly after his death, d'Argenson, the then lieutenant of police, was talking to Louis' nephew, Philippe d'Orleans, the regent.

"Monseigneur," he said, "there are people who go about yelling that his majesty of blessed memory was a bankrupt and a thief. I'll have them arrested, and have them flung into some deep underground dungeon."

"You don't know what you are talking about," was the answer. "Those people must be paid, and then they'll cease to bellow."

"But how, Monseigneur?" "Let's give the balls that were projected by Bouillon." So said, so done. And the people danced to pay Louis XIV's debts, as, according to Shadwell, people drank to fill Charles II's coffers—

"The king's most faithful subjects we in a service are not dull; We drink to show our loyalty And make his coffers full."
